a new theory about the origins of consciousness that finds learning to be the driving force in the evolutionary transition to basic consciousness what marked the evolutionary transition from organisms that lacked consciousness to those with consciousness to minimal subjective experiencing or as aristotle described it the sensitive soul in this book simona ginsburg and eva jablonka propose a new theory about the origin of consciousness that finds learning to be the driving force in the transition to basic consciousness using a methodology similar to that used by scientists when they identified the transition from non life to life ginsburg and jablonka suggest a set of criteria identify a marker for the transition to minimal consciousness and explore the far reaching biological psychological and philosophical implications after presenting the historical neurobiological and philosophical foundations of their analysis ginsburg and jablonka propose that the evolutionary marker of basic or minimal consciousness is a complex form of associative learning which they term unlimited associative learning ual ual enables an organism to ascribe motivational value to a novel compound non reflex inducing stimulus or action and use it as the basis for future learning associative learning ginsburg and jablonka argue drove the cambrian explosion and its massive diversification of organisms finally ginsburg and jablonka propose symbolic language as a similar type of marker for the evolutionary transition to human rationality to aristotle s rational soul

Fifth-Dimensional Soul Psychology

greetings i m vywamus i m a soul psychologist in this series of lectures we will explore the meaning of soul psychology and how it relates to modern psychology more importantly we will show how soul psychology as a practice is becoming more popular and is an especially useful technique for starseeds and others who are awakening to the fact that there is reincarnation and that there are soul lessons that must be learned the basic essence of soul psychology rests with the idea that the soul is evolving and that part of this evolution is occurring through incarnations in the third dimension now to even speak about the soul evolving is perhaps a controversial subject because we know that the soul is eternal we know that the soul has been in existence for infinity and we know that the soul is perfect so why would the soul have to evolve the answer to this question is complex and we may not be able to totally answer it using third dimensional terminology but it is an important question to answer because the nature of soul evolution is inherently connected to your experiences in the third dimension the soul in completing its evolutionary journey needs these experiences in the third dimension and it needs to complete the lessons here through david k miller chapters include soul evolution the nature of the soul enlightenment soul psychology and planetary healing soul group psychology restoring the self uncovering the mystery of the mental body negative self talk altered states of consciousness cosmic karma

Soul Story

the grand religious stories that gave meaning to life and death in the past have crumbled under sceptical scrutiny the dominant mainstream philosophy is now scientific objectivism which describes a universe that exists for no reason and a life that ends in oblivion in this book pioneering philosopher tim freke addresses the soul crisis in modern culture that has arisen from lack of meaning he offers an intelligent spiritual perspective on life and death to help us make sense of a paradoxical world which is sometimes bleak and banal but also can be magical and full of significance he presents a revolutionary paradigm shift in our understanding of reality that integrates the deepest insights of science and spirituality to create a new model of human identity which makes the idea of the immortal soul intellectually credible he explores the process of evolution not as blind chance but as the momentous story of the self-realising universe the development of the material world has led to the emergence of psyche or soul which you are experiencing right now as a stream of thoughts and images that don't exist in space and aren't made of matter we are not insignificant

men have evolved from animals and animals from inanimate matter but what has evolved is qualitatively different from the inanimate matter from which it began both men and the higher animals have a mental life of sensation thought purpose desire and belief although these mental states in part cause and are caused by brain states they are distinct from them richard swinburne argues that we can only make sense of this interaction by supposing that mental states are states of a soul a mental substance in interaction with the body although both have a rich mental life human souls unlike animal souls are capable of logical thought have moral beliefs have free will and have an internal structure so that their beliefs and desires are formed largely by other beliefs and desires inherent in the soul professor swinburne concludes that there is no full scientific explanation available for the evolution of the soul and almost certainly there never will be for this revised edition professor swinburne has taken the opportunity to strengthen or expand the argument in various places to take account of certain developments in philosophy and cognitive
